The Liberties has a noticeable lack of green space this makes the area difficult to live in if you have children and currently does not support a strategy of creating an area that is future proofed for future growth. The idea that somewhere so close to the city centre should be used as a super depot is ridiculous. City centre spaces like this should be used to the best benefit of the local area i.e. housing, open public spaces or community centres. Please don't utilise one of the last large spaces to turn it into a depot for trucks for Dublin City Council. Have some imagination and think to the future Dublin you want to create.
