I am a local resident and I oppose this rezoning.

The council's consolidation plan makes sense somewhere, but not in this location.

The Liberties is seeing much new private development, and this site could be used to counterbalance it with public housing and public amenities.

The council's own Liberties Greening Strategy document of 2015 provides a useful blueprint for what might be achieved.

With committed residents, international visitors, vibrant businesses, so many people want the Liberties to thrive and succeed through imaginative transformation.

To install a super depot in Marrowbone Lane would fly in the face of that.

It's time for DCC to show confidence in Dublin 8 and help it achieve its potential.
